Vienna, March 26. N. S. On Monday last his Imperial Majesty review'd Prince Eugene's Regiment of Dragoons, which consists of Twelve hundred Men, who are now proceeding on their March for the Low Countries, where, together with the Troops which are following, they will make up a Body of Twenty four thousand Men. His Imperial Majesty, without allowing himself any time for Pleasure, is wholly taken up with his application to publick Affairs, and is daily making some new Regulations. Yesterday a Proclamation was publish'd, whereby a Years time is given to the Shopkeepers to dispose of their Rich Stuffs and Lace, after which time the inferiour degrees of People will be restrain'd from wearing those things; and there will be likewise Orders made concerning the keeping of Coaches and other excesses in Living, that are at present too much affected by the Citizens and other Persons in this Place.

Hanover, March 29. N. S. We have receiv'd a Confirmation from Petersbourg, of the demolishing of Asoph, of the marching out of the Garrison under General Apraxin, with the usual Marks of Honour, the delivery of the Keys to Hassan Bassa; that Tangarogg would speedily be demolished, and that all things were in such a posture, upon the Frontiers, that it was not doubted but a good Correspondence would be continued between his Czarish Majesty and the Port for the future. They write from Dresden, that the King of Poland went from thence the Twenty first Instant to meet the Diet, which he had order'd to be assembled at Warsaw. Upon his return from Poland he will go to Carlesbad, to have an interview with the Czar, who will come thither from Petersbourg about the middle of May.

Brussels, March 31. N. S. All things remain quiet on the Frontiers: Yesterday the Estates of these Provinces assembled here, in order to deliberate farther concerning the Bread and Forage which are necessary to be provided for the Imperial Troops that are to serve in Flanders during the ensuing Campaign, and it is hoped some favourable Resolutions will be taken on that important Service.

Utrecht, April 1. N. S. Yesterday Morning the Plenipotentiaries of the Allies held a Conference at the Town-house, to consider of the Method to be observed in Proceeding at the General Conference to Morrow; and agreed to propose again to the French Plenipotentiaries, their giving in Specifick Answers to the Specifick Demands of the Allies.

Hague, April 1. N. S. On Wednesday last, in the Evening, arrived here the Procurator Ruzzini, Minister of the Republick of Venice, and will in a few Days, set forward for Utrecht, his Secretary is gone before to provide for his Reception. Yesterday Morning four Yatchts, came into the Maese, having on board them several Ministers and other Persons of Quality, who immediately upon their Landing, set out for the Hague: Prince Eugene of Savoy came hither the same Day: Mr. Harley, who is appointed by Her Majesty of Great Britain, to go to the Court of Hanover, being accompanied by the Lord Johnson, and several English Gentlemen, did not come to this Place till it was late at Night. The Minister of the King of Portugal, who is to go to Utrecht in the Quality of Plenipotentiary, and the Mareschalch de Bieberstein, Minister of the King of Prussia, arrived here this Morning, and the latter went the same Night for Utrecht, being the third Plenipotentiary of his Prussian Majesty. Prince Eugene had this Morning a particular Conference with the Deputies of the States General. Mr. Harley not finding my Lord Strafford at this Place, went this Night to Utrecht, and will return hither again to Morrow, having left all his Equipage behind him. Lieutenant General Cadogan still continues here, and is often in Conference with the Council of State, to concert necessary Measures for the next Campaign. Monsieur Vegelin de Claerbergen has taken the Oaths in the Assembly of the States General, as Deputy of the Army for the Province of Friezeland. The General Baron de Fagel is set out for his Government in Flanders, from whence he will go to the Army, and so likewise are Messieurs Van Heumen and Geldermalsen, who are to review the Troops there, by Order of the Council of State. Letters from Dunkirk bring advice, that they were equipping with all speed, the Vessels of War that are now lying in that Harbour, but they can give no account of the Design intended by it.
